As leader of the 'Learning in a Heritage Landscape – Transforming Work' project at Abbotsford, I can say that it has been and is a pleasure to work with your organisation. Works plus is a small dynamic and focussed team of people dedicated to assisting young people to achieve a positive path forward. Our working relationship has always felt natural, creative and organic, with excellent communication. That Works plus has such a terrific track record in helping their participants achieve their potential is testament in itself, and it has been great to have been part of that journey through our partnership work, sharing all that Abbotsford has to offer to these groups of young local folk.
